II. MOH Measures

Those who do not wear masks during the epidemic will be fined 100 B$; those who violate or fail to observe the "digital quarantine order" is illegal behavior and can be fined up to 5000 B$. If prosecuted by the court, they will face a fine of up to 10,000 B$ or imprisonment up to 6 months, or both penalties. The previous regulations enacted by government on 7 and 9 August are valid until 4 September.

The Ministry of Health of Brunei once again reminds the public to always pay attention to the color of the BruHealth code on mobile phones. There are 5 types, namely "green", "yellow", "red", "purple" and "blue".

"Green" is a healthy, free code, free to enter and exit any mall, store and participate in activities.

"Yellow" is an unhealthy and risky code. You must be careful and enter and exit any malls, shops, and activities.

"Red" means that you are not allowed to go out to any shopping malls, shops, participate in any activities, or to the vaccination center, only to the testing center or receive medical treatment.

"Purple" is the code for people confirmed with COVID. They are not allowed to go out to any malls, shops, participate in any activities, or go to the vaccination center.

The last "blue" is the code for people recovered from COVID and is still in isolation for 14 days, and is not allowed to go out to any malls, shops, or participate in any activities.

According to the Ministry of Health, anyone who displays the "red" and "purple" codes on BruHealth's mobile phone is not allowed to leave the house, unless it is to a testing center or to receive treatment.

Once it is discovered that a person holding the "red" and "purple" codes does not follow the instructions, which means they will still go out, once they are discovered and banned, they can be fined 5,000 B$ under the Regulations 204 or be charged in court. Once convicted, they can be charged. He was fined up to 10,000 B$ or jailed for 6 months or both.
